1.3.1 - Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum

To support the University curriculum and to add to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum College organizes various activities through its departments and committees. All such activities and programmes are related to the inculcation moral, ethical and value based learning based on our Indian culture, Social extension activities, etc amongst students. Such activities are chiefly comes from different cells like NSS, Women cell, Extension cell and departments like Pali, Ambedkar Thoughts and Language Departments, etc. These cells and departments includes ethics, Gender, Human Values Environments and sustainability into curriculum. Covid 19 lockdown stretched for almost two consecutive sessions; college worked in the area of social extension and outreach for the social cause.

Since students is going to lead the society in future through its organizational works, Professional development for students in higher education is highly important. Through various value added courses, classroom teachings, Guest Lectures, Seminars, and Workshops on the professional development, college ensure the value and ethics of our Indian culture to be disseminated for the growth of students. Various programs for entrepreneurship and employment, all such activities are framed with the ethical development of our students.

Sensitization of students and neighboring community for environmental cause is always comes at priority while preparing activities for NSS, Social extension cell and environment cell in the college. Round the year college NSS unit and rest of the committees organize various programmes, rallies, competitions, wherein direct students are involve. Through small skits, street plays, slogans, placards, students reaches the neighboring colonies to sensitize them with the environmental issues, importance of tree plantation, nuclear disarmament, rain water harvesting, pollutions, etc. college put up a rain water harvesting and well recharge in its premise.

To inculcate human values emanated through Indian culture and knowledge system, various departments round the year organize programmes, guest lectures, and seminars for students and teaching community. With the human values college departments also works upon the issue of social integrity. Since India is a multilingual and multi religious country, social harmony and peace and bonding between us is importance. The constitution of India bind us in a thread. To promote social harmony, college observe various days round the year.

Constitution of India and the Indian culture from the beginning respect he women. Yet to develop as a nation discrimination to women may drag the nation back through conservative patriarchy. Therefore, promotion of gender cause is essential at higher educational level to boost the morale of girl students and at the same to orient male counterpart for gender equality. Through NSS, Women's cell and social counselling sell college organize various activities round the year. College also have Internal Complaint anti-sexual harassment cell for prevention of such activities in the campus. College also have incubation centre for the development of women entrepreneur and to support the local self-help groups of women.

The following programmes can be taken as evidence of college works towards cross cutting subjects.
